XETUM INTERNATIONAL ORDER TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Your Xetum international order is subject to Xetum's standard US policies listed below, including our 2-year limited warranty and our 30-day return policy, and to these International Order Terms and Conditions:

Shipping: Xetum ships to selected international destinations. For the most current list of countries that we ship to, please visit our website at www.xetum.com. We cannot ship to postal / PO Boxes. International packages are shipped using FedEx International Priority (or other similar service). Delivery times will vary due to customs clearance times.

Taxes and Duties: When your Xetum purchase is shipped to you, or when you make a shipment to / receive a shipment from Xetum under our warranty policy, return policy or for product servicing, the customs office (or other authorities) in the sending country and/or destination country may separately apply export or import duties, customs fees and/or other duties, fees, taxes and charges to your shipment. You are solely responsible for payment of these duties, fees, taxes and charges (whether you keep or return your purchase), and you agree to fully reimburse Xetum if for any reason it becomes obligated to pay any of these amounts on your behalf.

Order acceptance, processing and payment: Following review and approval of your order request, you will receive a PayPal invoice for the item price and shipping cost. Order acceptance is in Xetum's sole discretion. We accept payments for international orders via PayPal only, and payment must be made in US dollars prior to order shipment.

Service: You understand that Xetum's authorized service centers are located in the United States and acknowledge that warranty service is available only if you ship your timepiece to Xetum's designated United States location.

(Please check the box on the left; Xetum cannot accept your order if the box is not checked)
